Wood Lake - Nebraska.

No Exchange.

As a result of continued complaints by Omaha jobbers, the Omaha banks, at a meeting this week, decided to drop exchange on personal checks drawn on country banks. The exchange was about 10 cents per $100 in Nebraska and more on checks from states farther west.

The bankers are not entirely pleased with the arrangement, as they claim that country dealers will no longer buy drafts, but will send their personal checks in payment for goods.—Omaha Daily News.

More Local.

I. C. Stott's was down from Cody yesterday.

Ed Satterlee was down from Nenzel last Friday.

George H. Bakewell, of Wood Lake was in town yesterday.

Wm. Fleischman spent a couple of days in our city this week.

A. Thompson and L. W. Parker are in town and visited our office.

John Lord is in town and says their sale at Simeon was a success.

Judge Zarr returned last Friday from Lusk, Wyo., where he has been during the past summer.

It was C. C. Thompson's pony that won first money in the pony race at Cody, Friday's races.

Attorney A. W. Scattergood, of Ainsworth, is in town a couple of days this week on a contest case.

Our friend Geo. D. Huggins is in town from Norden today and called to renew his subscription for another year.

Wm. Bachelor drove in from his ranch near Oasis yesterday and called at our office today for a friendly visit.

William Skelly, formerly, of Crookston, but now working for M. J. Jordan of Arabia, was in town yesterday.

Joe Baldwin, formerly manager of the bowling alley for Jackson & Sparks, is in town. He is traveling for a Lincoln sash, door, and blind company.

Chas. D. Bowdish, formerly of Cripple Creek, Colo., came up from Bassett last Monday to accept a position in Clarence Sageser's barber shop.

Arthur Dunham had the misfortune Monday evening to get his arm thrown out of place by a calf crowding him against the stable in running past him. Dr. Compton replaced it and it is getting along all right.

Martin Carr returned from Hot Springs, S. D., last Saturday morning where he had been doctoring for rheumatism about two weeks, and is much improved. He lives several miles west of Simeon and returned home Saturday.

Shepard Bros. have just completed an addition to their livery stable which gives them more room for their buggies and wagons and provides space overhead for a supply of grain. They have been doing a successful livery business and keep good teams.

Joseph Langer, of Norden, came over to our city Thursday to get another load of lumber which he is using to build an addition to Langers Bros. store at Norden of which he is one of the owners. He has employed our friend Grant Boyer to do their carpenter work.

G. M. Lynn dropped in on us today like a hawk onto a chicken, claiming to be the meanest man in the country. The last time he was here, a couple of years ago, he handed us a couple of $ and walked away without telling who he was. We had to guess who to give credit.

J. E. Utterback has been in town several days this week waiting for the delivery of the O'Connor Cattle company's cattle which he and J. W. Stetter have bought. There are about 1000 head in the entire bunch and are to be delivered at Cody. Most of them will be taken onto Mr. Utterback's ranch on White river.

The Chadron academy foot ball team will play the Valentine high school team Friday afternoon, Nov. 3, on the grounds north of our high school building. This will be the only game of the season on our home grounds, and, as Chadron now holds the championship of North-western Nebraska, it promises to be a quick, snappy and most interesting game. Our local team has been practicing hard and expects to be in fine shape. A small admission fee will be charged at the gates to help defray expenses.

Grant Boyer has completed a dwelling for Wm. Rector, 24x26, story and a half, with an "L" addition, and is now finishing a dwelling for Miss Mills, opposite M. E. church. Mr. Boyer had the misfortune recently to step on a nail which punctured his foot and has caused him to limp for awhile.

The Standard Cattle company's last Saturday was well attended and everything sold at fair prices. The company has closed up business now in Cherry county. Foreman Stuart has gone to Chicago and from there goes to Scotland on a visit. Mat Johnson of Ames, Neb., will complete the business for the company.

We suddenly found our paper crowded last week before we realized that several important items would be crowded out. We wanted to tell about the races at Cody and the big crowd that gathered there. On Thursday, several Valentine people waited all day for the morning freight which did not arrive until after supper and reached Cody about 8 o'clock at night. We went, however, on the freight as did several others. We found the town over run with people and not enough houses in the town to hold all of them. There were lots of Indians whose tents loomed up like a city on both sides of Cody and their yells and songs, kept up almost throughout the night, was only a gentle reminder of what might have happened had this event been only a few short years ago. It was our good fortune to be entertained at the home of Messrs. Bishop & Young where we enjoyed all the comforts of life, and at W. H. Carter's Friday for dinner. We will never cease to be thankful to these good people for their hospitality. The ball game was the first of the sports that we visited which was between Cody and Crookston and was won by the latter in a score of 12 to 8, Crookston not finishing out the last half of the ninth inning. The Crookston boys were well pleased with their treatment. T. W. Cramer was umpire for Crookston and Conductor Mills for Cody.

Good plays: Wm. Kelly, of Crookston made a home run and Byron Shaw two three-base hits.

Shaw and O'Roake was the battery for Crookston.

After dinner the races began and kept us interested until the evening freight came along just as they closed. We copy a result of the three day races as given by Cody Cow Boy:

FIRST DAY.

Half mile, free for all, Tambourine 1st, White River 2nd, Pumpkinhead 3rd.

New Army Post in Nebraska.

Fort Niobrara, Oct. 23.—The army post here has been thoroughly inspected by Congressmen Hull and Kinkaid, and, after an examination, they arrived at the conclusion that the post buildings were beyond repair.

It is stated the Nebraska delegation in the next congress will introduce a bill for the construction of new building, either near Valentine or Arabia.—Omaha Daily News.

SCHOOL NOTES.

By Margarete Quigley, Clara Dunham.

Willie Steadman has entered the primary room.

Bernice O'Kief writes that she finds time passing swiftly.

Herbert Rogers and Alta Ewing have been sick and out of school.

Henry Bell is not in school here now. He will attend school at the fort the remainder of the winter.

Many of the little ones in the primary room were delighted in getting report cards for the first time.

Miss Sadie Thackrey, who teaches in the Williams districts, finds it rather lonesome as she has only 3 pupils enrolled and often has only 1 in attendance.

Arthur Dunham was accidentally hurt Monday evening while doing his chores, so is not at school now. He had the tendons of the small bone of his right arm torn loose.

Dora Grewe writes from O'Neill that she and her sister, Francis, have about the same work as they had here with German in addition. They enjoy the work very much.

Miss Cora Thackrey, who teaches in the Borman district, is enjoying her school very much. They have been refurbishing the school house and now have it very comfortable.

A social was given at Harmony last Friday evening, where Vannie Hooper is teaching. The proceeds amounted to $11.75 and will be expended for lamps and Sunday school song books.

We wish to make two corrections on the poems printed last week. The word "fireside" was used instead of "campfire" in Ruth Stetter's poem, and one stanza was omitted of Ina Spratt's. At some future time Ina's entire poem will be printed. [THE DEMOCRAT acknowledges responsibility for the first error, but the second was due to copy, only 8 verses being handed to us.—Ed.]

TRIFLES.

It is only a little kin laess,
Upon someone you bestow,
Turning sadness into gladness,
As along your way you go.

If its only a smile that is given,
To some wanderer on the way,
It may have been a glimpse of heaven,
At the close of a weary day.

Thus this life has many a rugged road,
That is tread with aching feet,
Then let us help to lift the load,
For the recompense is sweet.

—BESSIE MORGAN.

THE INDIAN WARRIOR.
In his wigwag made of deerkins,
Sat the brave old Indian warrior
Telling legends and traditions
Of fierce wars of hate and horrors
And of ancient braves and warriors;

How their tribes had conquered others,
How their braves had fought so dauntless
In that long and ghastly struggle,
How within their hearts
Burned deep the fire of bitter hatred.

When at last the fearful strife had ended
How the signal of the peace pipe
Came together all the nations
And they pledged each other's friendship.

When the dove of peace had settled
Over all their cherished land,
How their hunters were most skilful
And their wrestlers far the lither.
